

WIN-Sights – Team Energy Dynamics Profile

Improve team working, trust, relationships SWIFTLY as you uncover potential with WINsights

Simple: Safe and Simple to understand and apply in your workplace and relationships.

Universal: everyone has this energy– its natural in every single person

WINsightful: Assists in understanding & creating High Performance Relationships

Improves: Self-understanding, optimises teamwork and team dynamics

Positive: Appreciative approach empowers people to be more aware, care, and change.

Methodology

The WINsights communication program is a fun and insightful tool that helps peoples to: Understand themselves their mindsets, values, and actions, as well as...

- Appreciate others so as to make constructive use of other individuals unique perspectives
- Improve connection, collaboration, understanding, tolerance, leadership and teamwork
- Learn the best approach to maintain healthy and productive team communications.
- Use the WINsights gained to create new behaviours that supports and motivates each other.

Fiery Red energy people are extroverted and have high energy. They are action oriented and always in motion. They will approach others in a direct, authoritative manner, radiating a desire for power and control.

Sunshine Yellow energy people are strongly extroverted, radiant, and friendly. They are usually positive and concerned with good human relations. They will approach others in a persuasive, democratic manner, radiating a desire for sociability.

Earth Green energy people focus on values and depth in relationships. They want others to be able to rely on them. They prefer democratic relations that value the individual and are personal in style, radiating a desire for understanding.

Cool Blue energy people are introverted and have a desire to know and understand the world around them. They prefer written communication in order to maintain clarity and precision, radiating a desire for analysis.

All the Colour Energies have equal value and we all use all four colour energies to varying degrees. The unique ordering and degree of energies shape your personal style.

It's your preference for one or two colour energies in particular, that indicate your dominant or preferred style of thinking, decision making, interacting, working and communicating. Have fun and discover Winning Insights with WIN-sights.